

J. D. SMYTHE, President,

FRANK WOLFDENDE, Manager,

W. D. ROBERTSHAW, Secretary

THE GREENVILLE COTTON OIL and GINNING COM'Y.

Now ready to pay best cash price for your cotton seed. Will be ready to gin your cotton about Sept. 20.

WE SOLICIT a SHARE OF YOUR TRADE and GUARANTEE SATISFACTION

THE GREENVILLE TIMES

SATURDAY, Sept. 6, 1860.

Published Weekly by The Greenville Times
Printing and Publishing Company.

Entered at the Greenville post-office second-class mail matter.

FOR SENATOR
R. B. CAMPBELL.

FOR REPRESENTATIVES
J. E. LARKIN
E. N. THOMAS
S. CASTLEMAN

SHERIFF W. E. HUNT,
CLERK OF COURT, W. E. HUNT,
CHIEF CLERK, W. E. HUNT,
REASSESSOR, A. M. BOYD,
CENSUS TAKER, J. D. BROWN,
BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

First District — J. S. Davis
Second District — C. A. White
Tabled Drawers — F. W. Anderson
Fourth District — F. Bean
Fifth District — F. M. Cutts

JUDGE LONGINO'S RECEPTION.

The return of Governor-elect Longino to Greenville on Friday was made the occasion of a public demonstration in his honor which showed the high esteem in which he is held in Greenville. At the Y. & M. V. station he was met by a large concourse of citizens, friends and on foot, accompanied by the members of the Board of Education of the city and the reception committee. After being driven through the principal business streets which were lined with cheering crowds, Judge Longino was taken to the city hall, where Mayor Yeager welcomed him in appropriate and happy words, to be responded briefly, but in language which showed his warm appreciation of the honor conferred upon him and his regard for his fellow citizens of Greenville. Great numbers of persons crowded to shake hands with the new governor after the ceremony of welcome was over, and to offer personal as well as patriotic congratulations upon his success. Judge Longino is a man of very pleasing personality, and possesses many friends in this community who esteem and admire him for purely personal qualities, as well as for his professional and public attainments and standing.

SAVE ME FROM MY FRIENDS.

Some of the weekly newspapers of Mississippi have vied with each other in the extravagance of their laudation of Governor-elect Longino. He reads them to find himself a "peerless" statesman and jurist; therefore the superior of Grover Cleveland, Lord Salisbury, Pope Leo, or even Wm. J. Bryan. He discovers that he has no equal in the law courts of the civilized world. He is more "superior" than the Kohlmoor, more "magnificent" than an army with banners, more "moral" than the Prince of Wales; more "splendid" than the sun in heaven, and more "pure" than the shield that hangs on Diana's temple.

Now, in the words of Professor John B. Minor of honored memory, "we submit, gentlemen, is not this peacockish?" The fact is that Judge Longino is a good man, an intelligent, able, and upright one; and we hope will make an excellent governor. But spare his modesty, good friends, and let us in this gold refined gold and paint the lily.

New Opera House.

The contract for the new opera house was awarded on Tuesday by Messrs. John F. Barnes, of Greenville, and George H. Johnson, of St. Louis, the total amount of bid being $20,000. The erection of the building, finished ready for plumbing, heating, and electrical work, is intrusted to Mr. Barnes. Mr. Johnson will have charge of the finishing, the decorations, scenery, furnishing, &c. It is expected that the building will be completed and ready for use by the beginning of October. The extent of the audit comes will be 100 feet, and the building will contain, in addition to it, a beautiful bathroom, offices and storerooms on the ground floor. The ball room, offices, &c., are already engaged, and a sufficient amount of revenue is assured from this source alone to pay a handsome percentage on the amount of money invested. Materials are already arriving in large quantities, and the work of clearing and preparing the lot was begun as soon as the contract was awarded.

CHIVALRY AND BUSINESS.

General Fitzhugh Lee urges an independent government for Cuba and the assistance of this government in establishing it. This country went to the aid of Cuba when the liberties of the island were about to be stifled forever in the cause of a merciless despotism. It was distinctly understood that it was a war for humanity, and not for revenue, and the United States stood pledged to redeem its promise as soon as the shackles were shaken from Cuba. Fitzhugh Lee comes of a class who are governed largely by tradition. He has absorbed, through some dozens of generations, a sort of old notion about Honour, and a fine, but utterly impractical and out-of-date idea that it comes before business. Indeed, when it comes to business, Fitzhugh Lee is not the man for the place. He hasn't more than $6,000 in the world, so much. He knows how to fight, and how to command. He knows how to reverence his constituents and the country next to his God; but it is more than doubtful if it would enter his mind to "conquer" wheat or beef, and win a grand fortune out of the necessities of his fellows. Even in very small business matters Fitzhugh Lee would be a failure. He would never think of burning his stores to get the insurance, and he never learned to lie or steal. General Lee's thoughts about Cuba must have come down to him from Legion Horse Harry, to whom they were taught by Lafayette. But he mustn't go into the business part of the matter. Cuba has great natural resources to be developed, and their development requires active and business-like American control. Other American generals in Cuba, unhampered by Lee's antique illusions, have reported that return on the investment of American capital in Cuba will be "exceptionally safe and satisfying"; that "rastrouts should at once be built from which dividends on dividends may be expected; that industries in every town are only waiting to be "stimulated" by American enterprise; and that "wonderful opportunities for Americans" in all lines of endeavor are to be found. This is enough, and explains the situation. Go to, Kit Lee. Get thee back to Fairfax County. "Stimulate" and "develop" your wheat-fields. Entertain your old-fashioned friends with high talk of noble deeds over the matchless man you know the secret of so well. Read Addison and Shakespeare, and the Bible while the men of business fly away forever the second flag you fought for; and teach your sons your old time notions, that may lead some men like you.

NOT IN DIALECT.

The governor sat with his feet on the mantelpiece and a dark frown on his brow. His hat lay on the floor, but the frown was there. He stared wistfully upon the editorial page of a newspaper.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of an execution directed to the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Washington county, Miss., issued on a judgment rendered by William Yerger, Justice of the Peace in said court, on the 28th day of August, 1859, for One Hundred and Eighty and 1/2 Dollars, in favor of the plaintiff Blasius and A. Bros., against the defendant Phillip Williams, which said judgment is enrolled in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court of said county, I. J. B. Hobson, Sheriff of said County, will on Monday, the second day of October, 1860, at the front of south door of the Court House of said county, sell at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash during the hours prescribed for making Sheriff's sales, all the right, title and interest of defendant Phillip Williams in that land, in said county, described as the Southeast Quarter of the Southwest Quarter of Section 27, Township 47, Range West.

Citizenry, stand by this 4th day of September, A. D. 1860.
J. B. HEBRON, Sheriff.
R. A. Lashley, D. S.

NOTICE OF SALE.

By virtue of an execution directed to the Clerk of the Circuit Court of Washington county, Mississippi, executed before H. O. Palmer, Justice of the Peace in said court, on the 2nd day of October, 1859, and issued by said Clerk on the enrolled judgment rendered by said Justice on the 20th day of February 1859, in favor of J. M. Harton, Norton & Co., vs. L. H. Wilson, No. 116, I will, on the second day, the first Monday of October 1860, at the front or principal door of the Court House of Washington county, Mississippi, and between the hours of 11 a.m. and 1 p.m., give public sale at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash of all the right, title and interest of L. H. Wilson in and to the farm in Washington county, Mississippi, described as the Southeast quarter of the Northwest quarter of Section 30, Township 47, Range 7, West, and the Southeast quarter, except 100 acres of Section 30, Township 47, Range 7, West, let on by me as the property of said defendant, and to be sold to satisfy said judgment and costs of suit.

J. B. HEBRON, Sheriff.

R. A. Lashley, D. S.

Miss Bettie D. Finley will reopen her school, beginning on the 25th of Sept. 326 Washington Ave.

Advertise in THE TIMES.

The Greenville Cotton Oil and Ginning Company.

TWO KINDS OF DEMOCRATS.

The last, and one of the largest, best equipped and strongly backed oil mills of Greenville, is the Greenville Cotton Oil and Ginning Company's great plant just completed, and situated on the edge of the Y. & M. V. railroad track, near the power house of the water works. It was only recently that the charter of this concern was published, and it appears incredible that in so short a time the extensive buildings should have been erected, the complicated system of machinery put in place, and the mill, complete in every detail, should be ready for work, as finely equipped as similar establishments which have been in operation for many years. Such, however, is the fact. The Greenville Cotton Oil and Ginning Company will be ready on September 20th to handle all the cotton seed and gin all the cotton which may be brought to it, and solicits the share of patronage which its superior facilities, business methods, and the high standing of its sponsors and owners entitle it to. The mill and gin and accompanying buildings are thoroughly modern in design and furnished throughout with the latest and most perfect system of machinery, and its facilities for ginning and handling of cotton and the manufacture of the various products of cotton seed are as perfect as the most recent discoveries and inventions can supply.

The capacity of the mill is 10 tons daily, and it will add greatly to the prosperity of Greenville as a great number of hands will be employed, and the weekly payroll of the establishment will be spent almost entirely in the city. A glance at the names of the charter members will satisfy any beginners as to the standing and reliability of the enterprise and its backers. The President is J. D. Synther, for years a citizen of Greenville, and most favorably known to all the citizens of the city and county. He is extensively interested in planting, and is thoroughly familiar with the needs of the patrons of his mill, and understands fully what they most require in their business relations with an oil mill and ginner. Mr. Frank Wolfenden, an engineer and master machinist of the highest class, is in charge of the mill, and the secretary of the concern is Mr. W. D. Robertshaw, a young gentleman whose personal popularity and excellent business qualifications are well known, and sure to prove of advantage to the mill, as well as pleasant to its patrons.

* * * * * These are the men who stood at the head of the democratic party until it split by the semi-slaveholders which ran in Bryan, Atwood, Tillman, Tammany, and the like, and ran out Grover Cleveland and its supporters under Bryan, it will be noticed that three of the six (Atwood, Wilson and Breckinridge) are Southern men. The comment is as follows:

"These are the men who stood at the head of the democratic party until it split by the semi-slaveholders which ran in Bryan, Atwood, Tillman, Tammany, and the like, and ran out Grover Cleveland and its supporters under Bryan, it will be noticed that three of the six (Atwood, Wilson and Breckinridge) are Southern men. The comment is as follows:

"These are the men who stood at the head of the democratic party until it split by the semi-slaveholders which ran in Bryan, Atwood, Tillman, Tammany, and the like, and ran out Grover Cleveland and its supporters under Bryan, it will be noticed that three of the six (Atwood, Wilson and Breckinridge) are Southern men. The comment is as follows:

"These are the men who stood at the head of the democratic party until it split by the semi-slaveholders which ran in Bryan, Atwood, Tillman, Tammany, and the like, and ran out Grover Cleveland and its supporters under Bryan, it will be noticed that three of the six (Atwood, Wilson and Breckinridge) are Southern men. The comment is as follows:

"These are the men who stood at the head of the democratic party until it split by the semi-slaveholders which ran in Bryan, Atwood, Tillman, Tammany, and the like, and ran out Grover Cleveland and its supporters under Bryan, it will be noticed that three of the six (Atwood, Wilson and Breckinridge) are Southern men. The comment is as follows:

"These are the men who stood at the head of the democratic party until it split by the semi-slaveholders which ran in Bryan, Atwood, Tillman, Tammany, and the like, and ran out Grover Cleveland and its supporters under Bryan, it will be noticed that three of the six (Atwood, Wilson and Breckinridge) are Southern men. The comment is as follows:

"These are the men who stood at the head of the democratic party until it split by the semi-slaveholders which ran in Bryan, Atwood, Tillman, Tammany, and the like, and ran out Grover Cleveland and its supporters under Bryan, it will be noticed that three of the six (Atwood, Wilson and Breckinridge) are Southern men. The comment is as follows:

"These are the men who stood at the head of the democratic party until it split by the semi-slaveholders which ran in Bryan, Atwood, Tillman, Tammany, and the like, and ran out Grover Cleveland and its supporters under Bryan, it will be noticed that three of the six (Atwood, Wilson and Breckinridge) are Southern men. The comment is as follows:

"These are the men who stood at the head of the democratic party until it split by the semi-slaveholders which ran in Bryan, Atwood, Tillman, Tammany, and the like, and ran out Grover Cleveland and its supporters under Bryan, it will be noticed that three of the six (Atwood, Wilson and Breckinridge) are Southern men. The comment is as follows:

"These are the men who stood at the head of the democratic party until it split by the semi-slaveholders which ran in Bryan, Atwood, Tillman, Tammany, and the like, and ran out Grover Cleveland and its supporters under Bryan, it will be noticed that three of the six (Atwood, Wilson and Breckinridge) are Southern men. The comment is as follows:

"These are the men who stood at the head of the democratic party until it split by the semi-slaveholders which ran in Bryan, Atwood, Tillman, Tammany, and the like, and ran out Grover Cleveland and its supporters under Bryan, it will be noticed that three of the six (Atwood, Wilson and Breckinridge) are Southern men. The comment is as follows:

sited by being born in narrower limits. Mississippi however is more unfortunate than the nation because she contains but one party, and that is the party of Bryanism. Race conditions made white solidarity necessary. It triumphed under the control of real Democracy. The capture of that party by Bryanism or McLaurinism (they amount to the same thing) left the state completely at the mercy of the usurper. The Republican party in the nation has at least some strong and wise and conscientious men in it before whose defenses the assaults of Bryanism will fall harmless, but Mississippi has not even the protection and advantage of opposition to the flood of McLaurinism which has overwhelmed her.

A BIG MAN.

Accept Harlequin's congratulations, governor, if knowing all the catalogued crimes of the amendment, the Democracy of Mississippi was not the less willing to commend you for your service to the people, you are evidently a pretty big man! —N. O. Harlequin.

But, what of the "Democracy" of Mississippi?

BANKRUPT'S PETITION FOR DISCHARGE.

In the matter of Alfred Holzman, debtor, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy, to the Honorable U. S. Sibley, judge of the District Court of the United States for the Western Division of the Southern District of Mississippi, in the case of the United States of America, and others, vs. Alfred Holzman, et al., debtors, in bankruptcy